Good As Wheat

'His word is as good as his bond," they say of the man who is straight; and e'en when his overcoat's pawned, and luck doesn't swing on his gate, the merchants are eager to trust the man with so healthy a fame; they know when he's earning the dust he'll come and unbosom the same. And when he is walking the street the citizens turn and exclaim, "That man is as good as new wheat, there isn't a crook in his game." The banker who's stern and austere to most of the jays in the grad is smiling from ear unto ear when meeting this excellent lad. Wherever he goes there are smiles, the smiles of approval and trust, and greetings and lifting of tiles-tis thus men behave to the just. The maidens are glancing his way; perhaps to a ring they aspire, for who wouldn't marry the jay whom all men respect and admire? At last, in the fullness of time, he goes to the golden beyond, and seraphim say, "He's sublime-his word was as good as his bond!"

The old schooner Matchless, the only sailing craft in the coast and geodetic survey service, is at Elizabeth City, N. C., undergoing repairs. When the schooner was built at Key West, in 1859, the timbers used were of mahogany. In 1898 when she was rebuilt a number of oak frames were put in to strengthen the vessel. Recently when insound planking was removed from the hull above water many newer oak frames were found to have rotted, while the mahogany ones were as sound as the day they were put in her, more than fifty-seven years ago. While the Matchless is on the railway the party aboard her is employed the party aboard her is employed in making a survey of the Pasquotank river, which connects the Lake Drummond canal with Albemarie sound. The steamer Bache of the coast survey fleet is undergoing an overhauling at Norfolk. On completion of the work she will take up off-shore hydrography on the coast of Georgia.
